

The leadership manual for our time

Devon Clunis, Chief, Winnipeg Police Services (retired), former Inspector General of Policing for the province of Ontario

Jean-Michel marries management best practice with life lessons on mental health and positive thinking.

Murray Rowe Jr, President, Forrest Green Group of Companies

Biting, unvarnished, and wry...Blais lays out frank behavioral observations while uncovering painful vulnerabilities from his extraordinary career.

Broadcaster Jordi Morgan

How Jean-Michel connects his leadership experience with life, hockey, and law enforcement will give you an idea of the small things you could do each day to help others, through a career in law enforcement or in everyday life.

Will Black, former US law enforcement officer and UN police peacekeeper

A must-read for aspiring and currently serving leaders....A unique perspective through the lens of an insightful and principled leader.

*Bill Fordy, O.O.M., Assistant Commissioner, RCMP (retired)
Deputy Chief, Niagara Regional Police Service*

An excellent viewpoint on leadership...The competencies required to lead an entire police service are the very same skills that can be developed in our local community rink.

Sean Reid, Level VI Hockey Canada official

In this book, you will discover crucial leadership traits that apply not only to police and hockey, but to anyone who wants to enhance this crucial skill called "leadership"!

Ben Maure, author and former Canadian diplomat

Useful reading for anyone aspiring to or simply interested in issues related to leadership.

Maria Appelblom, Chief Superintendent, Swedish Police Authority, former Director of United Nations Standing Police Capacity

Jean-Michel "JM" Blais

WORKING THE BLUE LINES

*Lessons in leadership from
hockey and policing*

MOOSE HOUSE PUBLICATIONS